Start of Self Check Service at LUMS Library

LUMS Library has made a history by introducing self-service circulation kiosk. It is the first in Pakistan to introduce this service. Library users can checkout/check-in and renew library material without any intervention of the library staff. Library users’ response towards this service is tremendous, and it has become very popular among users.

Full-Text Linking of Online Databases from Google Scholar

Library has enabled full-text linking of library’s subscribed resources from Google Scholar. Users can see LUMS library’s links with Google Scholar search results and go to the full text of these contents. This service will save time and efforts of library users and provide them their required full texts from the most popular search engine.

Launch of Subject Guides Research Support System

LUMS Library has launched a new research support service through a world class content management system (LibGuides) for the LUMS community: http://libguides.lums.edu.pk/

Library users will be able to find their required contents on a specific subject through a customized interface. This service will help the users to find specific information from different subject guides covering the whole body of knowledge. This service will provide a smooth and enhanced experience for the library users by saving time and efforts to find the relevant materials quickly.

Workshop on Archival Techniques

Library provided support to Mushtaq Gurmani School of Humanities & Social Sciences in identification, evaluation, and selection of participants for this three day training workshop. Three LUMS library’s professionals also participated in the workshop.

Self-check Circulation Services

The Gad & Birgit Rausing Library recently announced self-check circulation services for the LUMS community. Now library users will be able to perform circulation transactions i.e. checkout, check-in and renewal of library material without any intervention of library staff. This service will help to reduce the transaction time as well as bring more accuracy and transparency in circulation operations.

We have placed a user guide of this kiosk and our staff will also be available in case of any difficulty in using this machine.

We are committed to innovate your library services continuously at par with the international best practices. We hope this enhanced service will be helpful in making your library use experience more smooth, pleasant and enjoyable.
Library Brochure

Gad & Birgit Rausing Library (LUMS) launched Library Brochure "Explore the World of Knowledge" to orient Library services and new initiatives.
